

TWO VERY SPECIAL BOOKS EVERY KNIGHT WILL WANT TO OWN

PARISH PRIEST

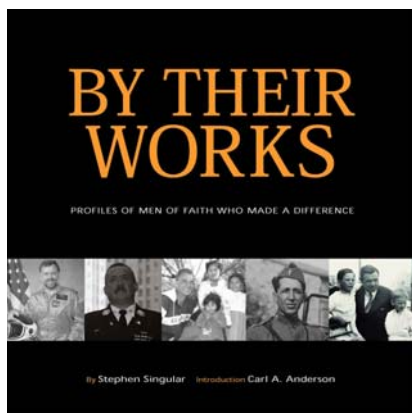

Father Michael McGivney
and American Catholicism

This exciting new biography of our founder, Father Michael J. McGivney, was written by best-selling historian and biographer Douglas Brinkley. It is an exciting and engrossing account of the life of the man who may soon become the first American priest to become a saint of the Catholic Church. Learn about the times in which he lived, and the experiences that brought him to found the Knights of Columbus.

This book goes on sale in bookstores nationwide on January 10, 2006, and you can help put it on the best-seller list! Buy a copy at your local bookstore on or after January 10, or order on-line on or after January 2 by going to the Knights of Columbus website (www.kofc.org) and clicking on the link that will take you to Amazon.com. The list price is $24.95, and Amazon will offer a discount price of $16.47.

Every bookstore or on-line purchase will count toward the commercial sales total that will make Parish Priest a best-seller, and ensure that Americans everywhere will want to get their copy, too!

BY THEIR WORKS

Profiles of Men of Faith
Who Made a Difference

From the earliest days of the Knights of Columbus in the late 1800s, an extraordinary variety of men of faith and courage have decided to become Knights. This book, written by best-selling author Stephen Singular, tells the stories of more than sixty Knights, including James Connolly, the first American to win an Olympic gold medal in modern times; two-time Congressional Medal of Honor winner Dan Daly; Al Smith, the first Catholic to be nominated for president; John F.

Kennedy, the first Catholic to be elected president; legendary football coach Vince Lombardi; Peace Corps founder Sargent Shriver; Myles Connolly, the editor of Columbia magazine who went to Hollywood and wrote "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and other popular movies; and New York Fire Department Lt. Danny O'Callaghan, who died helping people escape the twin towers on 9/11.

The deadline for ordering By Their Works at a special pre-publication price of $25 has been extended to December 1, 2005. When this top-quality coffee table book appears in bookstores next spring, it will sell for $45. So order now, and don't forget to get one for your Catholic school library! Use the order form in any recent issue of Columbia.